

Notes on Copyright in Course Materials by Laura Murray and Mark Swartz, October 2012

Some questions and concerns have arisen about the Faculty's advisory on copyright notices on syllabi and course websites.

Context

The Faculty's initiative arises out of an incident in which a student sold course materials to a commercial study prep service. The professor discovered this and requested that the service remove his material and refund money to students who had used it. He was successful, but sought languag

