

investigate how the policies and programs found in the document analysis translate into practice for private landowners and developers