My name is C. Devon Lin and I am a Professor in the Department of Mathematics and Statistics at Queen's University.

My research lies in uncertainty quanti cation of computer models, design for computer experiments, design and analysis of experiments, active learning, and the interface of data collection and statistical learning.