

Mathematics and Engineering at Queen's University

In response to the need in industrial research and development for engineers with a