

is a Professor, School of Policy Studies and cross-appointed to the Department of Political Studies, Queen's University, Chair of the National Accreditation Board for Programs in Public Administration, former President of the Canadian Association of Programs in Public Administration, and former National Research Chair for the Institute of Programs in Public Administration. She has published books, academic articles and reports on the non-profit sector, Canadian and comparative politics and government, federalism and constitutional matters, Aboriginal governance and issues and the judiciary and the executive. She has been active in public affairs as a nonpartisan advisor to federal, provincial and territorial governments, political parties, an Aboriginal organization and leaders, and non-profit organizations. A dedicated professor, she received the 2008 Pierre De Celles IPAC Award for Teaching Excellence in Public Administration (national award) and the 2009 Frank Knox Award (Queen's University) for Teaching Excellence and was a finalist for the 2020 Queen's Alumni Award for Teaching Excellence.

Recently Professor Brock has pursued an active research

2. Lead author and editor on the School of Policy Studies Working Group on Governance, "The Impact of COVID-19 on the Future of Governance in Canada: A White Paper." A collection of eight papers written by Queen's scholars. 100pp. My authored contributions: with Graeme Murray, "Introduction: A Results-Based Synopsis"; Brock, "The Perils of Reduced Parliamentary Scrutiny", with Lori Turnbull, "Multiparty Agreements and A Better Model for Parliament during Crises".

Media articles

1. "There can be magic even in a COVID Christmas." OpEd in the Canadian Journal of Public Administration, December 22, 2020.
2. "COVID-19: Good intentions aren't the same as good governance." OpEd in the Canadian Journal of Public Administration, July 13, 2020.
3. "The Coronavirus Challenge to Democracy." OpEd in the Canadian Journal of Public Administration, May 29, 2020.

Professional Presentations and Conference Participation

A. Papers:

1. Cooperative Federalism and Managing Intergovernmental Relations Through the Pandemic: Setting the Framework." Paper presented to the Managing Canadian Federalism beyond the Pandemic Workshop, held online, March 19, 2021.
2. "Finding/Restoring the Links Between Good Governance and Democratic Governance." Presented to the Panel on "The Not-So-New Normal: The Impact of COVID-19 on Core Public Administration Education," at the 2020 National Association (Network) of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs and Administration National Annual Conference, Online, October 14-16, 2020.

B. Presentations:

- 1.